DISCHARGED CITY EMPLOYE SHOTS DOWN THE MAYOR OF NEW YORK

er's assailant, who was immediately arrested, gave the name of James Gallagher. Asked why he shot, he said:

"Gallagher has deprived me of my bread and butter."

He gave no explanation of his words, but was later learned to have been a discharged city employee.

Mayor Gaynor was removed to St. Mary's hospital, where the doctors at first said they did not believe the mayor's wound serious. The bullet entered the right side of the neck, and did not cut any important blood vessels, they said.

Crowds Wait Eagerly. Bulletins were frequently issued and the people waited eagerly, all hoping for the best. There was considerable consternation when at 11:30 this bulletin was posted:

"At this time the mayor's condition is not so favorable. The doctors are having trouble checking the hemorrhages. Blood from his wound finds its way into his throat, choking the sufferer. The bullet was located an inch below the right ear. Doctors say they cannot forecast the outcome."

At 1:48 this afternoon Dr. Sullivan, one of the house physicians at St. Mary's hospital, said: "Mayor Gaynor's pulse is normal and the patient is strong and cheerful. The bullet probably lodged under the tongue."

The news of the attempted assassination of the mayor traveled with lightning rapidity and the police had a hard time getting Gallagher to the station. He was almost mobbed before he was taken to jail.

Legislature Horrified. Denver, Colo., Aug. 9.—The Colorado legislature, which convened in extra session today, unanimously adopted a resolution expressing horror at the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor.

Mayor Gaynor was about to go on a month's vacation abroad, and he was looking forward to a well earned rest, for he had been at his desk in the city hall ten or twelve hours a day for months. The mayor, health commissioner Ledere, dock commissioner Tomkins, and street cleaning commissioner "Big Bill" Edwards, were standing together about to have their photographs taken when Gallagher fired three shots.

Blood spurted from the wound in the mayor's neck as he fell to the deck. Officer Fitzgerald, one of the guards, was standing near. He sprang at Gallagher, knocked him down with a billy, and Gallagher was immediately seized. The mayor's secretary, Mr. Adamson, lifted the stricken executive to his feet, and, with the assistance of others, carried him to his stateroom. Later he was conveyed to the hospital.

Assassin Runs to Ship. Gallagher came to the ship on a run. With eyes and hands brushed by the guards at the gangplank. This George building, $2000.

GORE PRESSES HIS BRIBERY CHARGES

at one time they may have been at another," replied senator Gore.

McMurray's Statement. In a statement to the committee, and without going on the stand late yesterday, McMurray declared that the contracts came to him originally against his desire. He said the Indians at a "war council" had demonstrated their impatience at the government's slowness in selling land and had called upon him to take the job at 10 percent, which he did with reluctance. McMurray will go on the stand later.

D. C. McMurray, a Choctaw Indian, and attorney for his tribe, reiterated on the stand his charges that McMurray had offered him a $25,000 bribe to withdraw the tribal opposition to old contracts which were disapproved by president Roosevelt.

Haskell Denies. Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 9.—Governor Haskell today denies that J. L. Hamon was ever employed as counsel for him in the matter of securing an investigation of former indictments.

"When Hamon was on his way to Washington," said the governor, "he suggested that he could aid in the passage of the Gore resolution, directing an inquiry into the degree of methods in departments of the government, and I told him I would appreciate his influence. I never employed him as counsel and never paid him for any services rendered."

RAILROAD NEWS.

MAY BE BROTHER OF AN EL PASOAN

Dead Telegrapher Believed to Be Brother of J. R. Plunkett.

W. H. Plunkett, the New York telegraph operator whose death was reported in press several days ago, was a brother of J. R. Plunkett, Pullman conductor running out of El Paso to Los Angeles, it is believed. Mr. Plunkett did not know of his brother's death until a friend called his attention to a news item appearing in the press under a New York date line, after reading which he stated that the deceased operator must have been his brother.

The article stated that W. A. Plunkett, telegraph operator for the Associated Press at Louisville, Ky., for 15 years, and, though the middle initial in the name in the story was an A, the fact that his brother was known to have been an operator for the A. P. at that place for 15 years, made it probable that the A was an error of type and Mr. Plunkett now believes that the man was his brother.

W. A. Plunkett, who died in a broker's office in New York, was a "strong arm" of any operator in the country. He had been at the ticker since he was nine years of age.

TESTING PEARSON LINE PRIOR TO OPENING SEASON

Work Trains Run From Casas Grandes But Government Engineer Must Pass On Line Before Passengers Run.

The engineer of the department of communications of Mexico, is engaged in making an inspection of the Mexico North Western extension from Nueva Santa Grande to the lumber town of Pearson. As soon as the government engineer puts his official O. K. on the extension, the Mexico North Western will extend its passenger service into Pearson.

Work trains have been running over this portion of the road for some time, hauling building material into the new lumber camp. The extension was inspected about two weeks ago by general manager H. C. Johnson and Hiram Smith, Pearson's construction engineers.

SANTA FE WILL OPERATE A CALIFORNIA LINE

Road Between Goaford and Monarch, Calif., Now Run By the Southern Pacific Company.

Effective October 1, the Santa Fe will take over the Sunset railroad, operating between Goaford and Monarch, Calif. For the past five years the road has been operated by the Southern Pacific company, and now, beginning October 1, the Santa Fe will operate it, that being the working agreement between the two roads, which control it jointly. The road is in the California oil district, which makes it a valuable property.

SALARIES OF OPERATORS ON T. & A. ARE INCREASED

Toyah, Texas, Aug. 9.—The manager of the railroad telegraph office at this place has received a written notice from Frank Tremble, superintendent of telegraph at Dallas, stating that salaries will be increased 6 percent to take effect August 1.

There has been no notice given that all operators on this division would get similar increase, but it is the supposition of all that it will be only a short time until all operators will share the same increase.

This raise was not brought about by a grievance committee, hence was a pleasant surprise.
